National News—1966

1. Vaulting to New Heights—University of Southern California pole vaulter Bob Seagren sails over the bar at 17 feet 5½ inches to set a new world's record at the Fresno Relays.

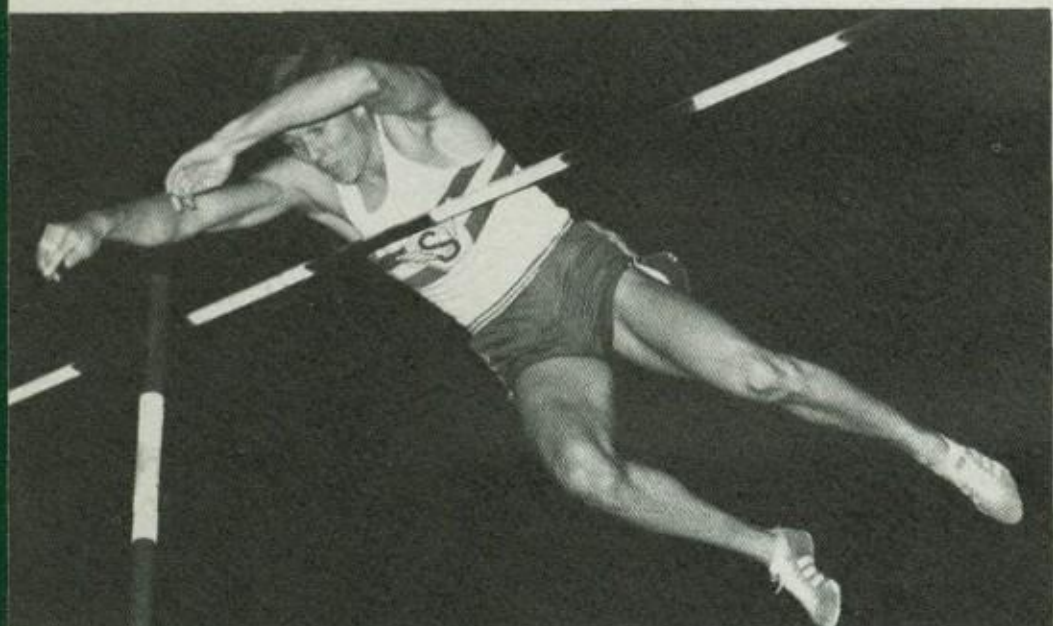

2. Say Hey—On April 24th, Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants hit his 511th career home run to tie the all-time National League record of Mel Ott. Willie's history-making shot traveled 415 feet into the left field seats.

3. Walt Disney Dies—On December 15th, famed movie maker Walt Disney passed away due to acute circulatory collapse. Shown here with one of his more famous characters, "Mickey Mouse", Disney leaves behind a legacy of fantasy and dreams which has thrilled hundreds of millions of children and adults all over the world.

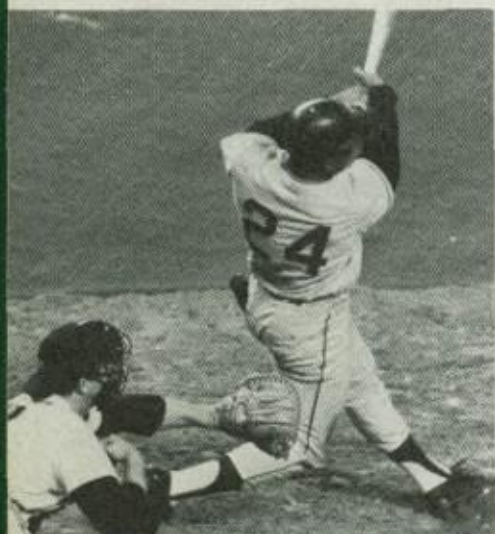

4. Moon Photo Assembled—On August 19th, Dr. Lawrence Rowan described this remarkable high resolution photograph of the surface of the moon to newsmen and scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, California. The picture was made by assembling 87 framelets taken from the Lunar Orbiter satellite and relayed back to earth.

5. 1966 Oscar Winners—On April 18th, all moviedom applauded these four stars at the Annual Academy presentation ceremony. From the left, Lee Marvin—best actor for "Cat Ballou"; British star Julie Christie—best actress for "Darling"; Shelley Winters—best supporting actress for "A Patch of Blue"; and Martin Balsam—best supporting actor for "A Thousand Clowns".

6. Artificial Heart Implant—On April 21st, the medical world was electrified when it learned that Dr. Michael DeBakey (left), Baylor University Medical School heart surgeon, had successfully implanted an artificial heart in Marcel L. DeRudder at Methodist Hospital in Houston, Texas. Mr. DeRudder later died of a ruptured left lung, though it was reported that the implant was a success.

7. Photograph Reaches New Heights—This photograph was taken from an altitude of 475 miles during the Gemini 10 space flight of astronauts John W. Young and Michael Collins in July of 1966. Gibraltar appears in the upper right.

8. Surprised Miss America—Pretty 19-year-old Jan Jayroe, Miss Oklahoma, expresses surprise and happiness in the same gesture upon learning that she was Miss America 1967.

9. Pat and Luci—Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Nugent walk down steps of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington on August 6th following the wedding of Nugent and the daughter of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

10. Strikeout King Retires—Lefthander Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers announced on November 18th that he was retiring from baseball due to an arthritic elbow. Winner of the Cy Young Award three times, Koufax set an all-time record of 382 strikeouts during the 1965 season.

School is a building

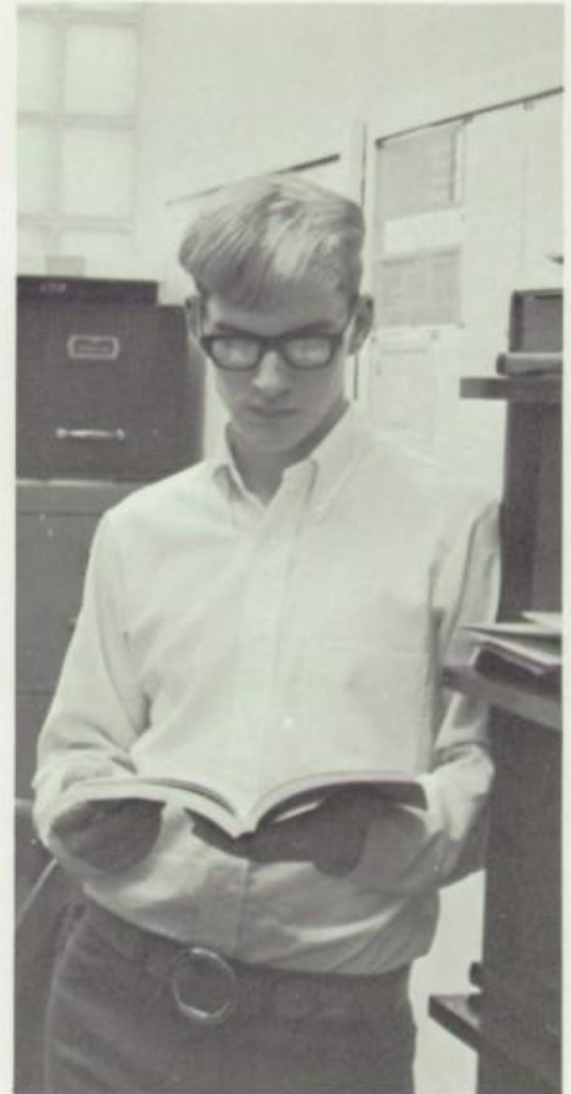

This year, a great share of most students' lives revolved around the school, which was the center of many activities and events. Proud of these opportunities, students desire that the memories be preserved as an inspiration to others and as a source of personal enjoyment. The purpose of this Lariat is to record and preserve these events in the spirit in which they occurred.

Study, study, study!

Jeanne Nofziger, Shirley Frey, and Becky Liechty discuss a difficult assignment as these honor students prepare their lessons.

Bob First studies a catalog to decide what college to attend next year.

Once a week, there was an entirely masculine study hall in the cafeteria—an overflow from upstairs. Those nearest the camera are John Wagler, Charlie Murphy, and Dick Selgo.

The typical student's biggest occupational hazard is studying, of course. On rare occasions, a few managed to "hit the books" and some even consented to have their pictures taken in this strange condition. Actually, most people did study more than they admitted.

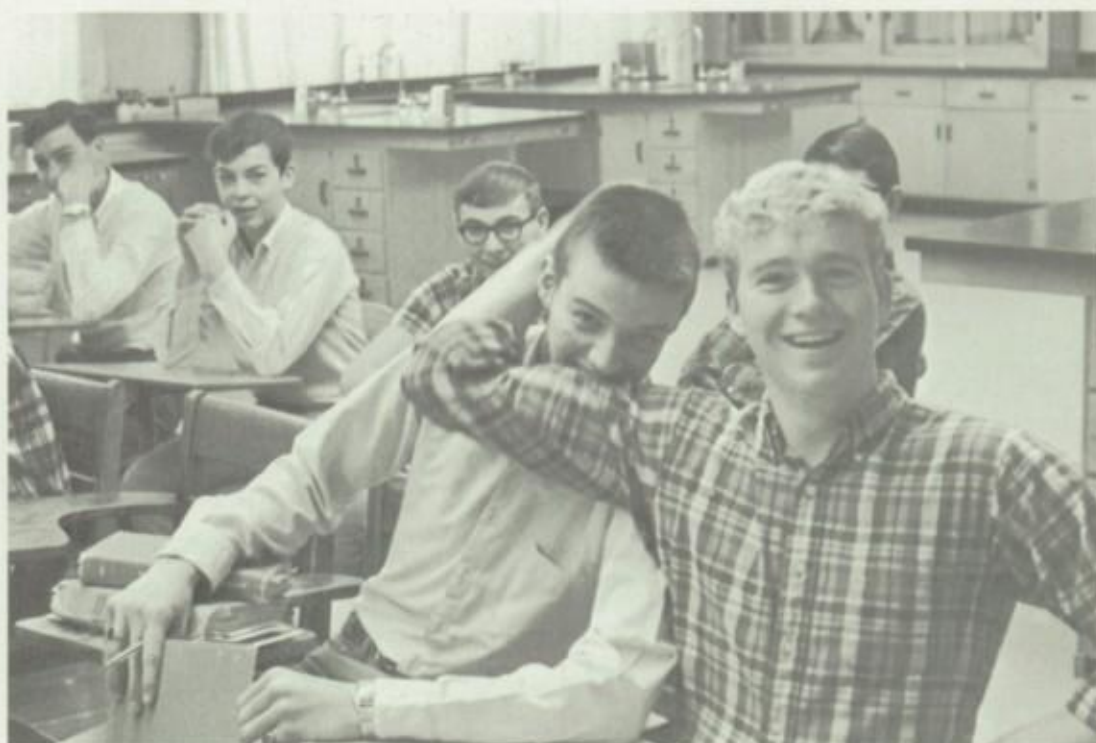

Pat Murphy employs a unique method of studying in the lab with a radio playing right next to her. The modern teenager!

All play and no work?

John Kauffman won one of the hundred awards in a national contest sponsored by General Electric for his slogan using the word genius. His prize was a button printed with the slogan: "I am an underwater GENius, always below C level."

Chris Rychener and Zeno Miller are indulging in some of their usual antics in home room while Roger Weber, Tom Wagler, and Jim Short enjoy the horse play.

Many unusual things went on during the school day, bringing out the various talents and interests of each student. More often than not, these incidents had nothing to do with classroom study, even though they occurred during class time. Like the day Miss Jones stormed out of the lab after being hit on the nose with a rubber stopper! Also between classes the mad rush for locker number 73 because it was a well-known fact that food was kept there. You'd be surprised at how many blueberry cookies you can pop into your mouth in three minutes time!

Several students had jobs during after-school hours. Fred Rychener helped clean the school building each evening.

Would you believe that Becky Liechty has been clocked standing on her head for five minutes?

School is variety

Mr. Rychener (above) cogitates while Phil Avina (right) gives a report in American history class.

An informal atmosphere pervaded many classes, especially the smaller ones. This was partially due to a good deal of student participation in classroom work and close student-teacher relationships. Such informality is conducive to making the enjoyable classes and good learning situations found in Pettisville School.

Mr. Miller leads a discussion of Ohio's driving laws and the safe operation of automobiles. Those taking part are (clockwise from bottom) Jerry Reynolds, Lonnie Roth, Cork Riegsecker, Charlie Nafziger, Leroy Nafziger, Dan King, and Steve Grieser.

Lynette Rufenacht tastes some of her own cooking in home ec.

Mr. David E. Lersch, superintendent of schools, completed his fourth year at Pettisville. Besides meeting administrative responsibilities, he taught senior economics.

Mr. Mark Ray, in his fifteenth year as high school principal, also taught seventh grade English and senior political science.

Administration is force that keeps school moving

RIGHT: Mrs. Miriam Ray, secretary to the high school principal; Mrs. Georgia Rupp, secretary to the superintendent of schools; Mrs. Hazel Rychener, assistant secretary to the superintendent of schools.

Pause for refreshment

Miss Cron listens for errors in a recording of the choir contest music.

A big part of a teacher's busy day is spent in grading papers, explaining difficult problems and concepts, counseling students, and eating and conversing in the faculty room. Even so, they still find time to prepare lessons and tests for each of their classes every day and get grade cards out on time. They occasionally get a chance for some personal activities, too.

COLUMN DOWN: Mrs. Golda Boyer, commercial; Stephen Brannan, mathematics; Miss Grace Cron, music and guidance counselor; Miss Constance Jones, science; James Kruse, industrial arts. ROW ACROSS: Mrs. Rosemary Lind, home economics; Mrs. Roberta Mayer, junior high history, reading, and arithmetic; Dencel Miller, guidance counselor, driver education, physical education, guidance, and civics; Mrs. Marilyn Pickerel, physical education.

Teachers need more than water to quench their thirst! Mr. Miller is just one of many who use the newly-installed pop machine in the faculty room.

*Teachers' world

Mrs. Green serves as pianist for the young singers in an elementary music class.

TOP ROW: Mrs. Marilyn Ross, Spanish; Miss Loretta Rupp, librarian, English 8; Douglas Rychener, history, physical education; Mrs. Thelma Rychener, English 9-10; Richard Selgo, history 8, geography, physical education. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Maryann Thatcher, science 8, science survey, high school arithmetic, arithmetic 8; Miss Ruth K. Wyse, English 11-12, journalism, Latin; Neil Zimmer, vocational agriculture; Mrs. Jeanette Beck, grade 2; Mrs. Valetta Bowers, grade 5.

Miss Rupp keeps her records straight while she supervises a study hall.

Elementary teachers confer with parents

Each year, teachers of grades 1, 2, and 3 have conferences with their pupils' parents, at which they discuss the children's progress in school. At one of the conferences, Mrs. Sullivan talks with Mrs. Freeman Nafziger about her son.

TOP ROW: Mrs. Vera Cooley, grade 4; Mrs. Sue Green, elementary music; Mrs. Esther Henschen, grade 6; Mrs. Dorothy Holland, grade 2; Mrs. Sue Leininger, grade 3. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Florence Lindley, grade 1; Miss Sadie Miller, grade 4; Mrs. Florence Porter, kindergarten; Mrs. Elaine Rychener, grade 6; Mrs. Mildred Rychener, grade 5. THIRD ROW: Miss Ida Belle Salsbury, special education; Miss Alta Spiess, special education. FOURTH ROW: Mrs. Helen Springer, grade 1; Mrs. Shirley Sullivan, grade 3.

Personnel keep school wheels rolling

While the students concentrated on their work, the service personnel did their best to keep everyone comfortable. The cooks fed the pupils, the bus drivers drove them, and the custodians were busy keeping the school and grounds a pleasant place to work.

Budding homemakers learn by doing

Recipe:

One cup of humor,
A pinch of seriousness,
A bit of the "devil."
Mix well and you have home economics.

Hopefully preparing for the years ahead, Joyce Ruetz, Connie Baer, and Jane D. Rupp learn to embroider in home ec. 3.

Carol Knapp looks pleased with her work as she stitches industriously on the dress she is making. So another senior prepares for her not-so-distant future.

Jane Kauffman and Lauranne DeWit mix up a concoction of hamburger and tomato sauce. The girls must not only prepare meals but also eat them afterwards.

That celery just won't be the same after Sharon Hartman cuts it up and puts it in her salad.

Vocational agriculture has many faces

Vocational agriculture encompasses a wide variety of activities. The students keep records of projects they carry out through the year. Several periods a week are spent working on implements and other farm machinery in shop. Mr. Zimmer is always available for questions concerning any agriculture problems facing the student.

Industrial arts students spend many class periods designing their projects. While carrying them out in the shop, they use the various power tools under the guidance of Mr. Kruse.

Study develops math aptitudes

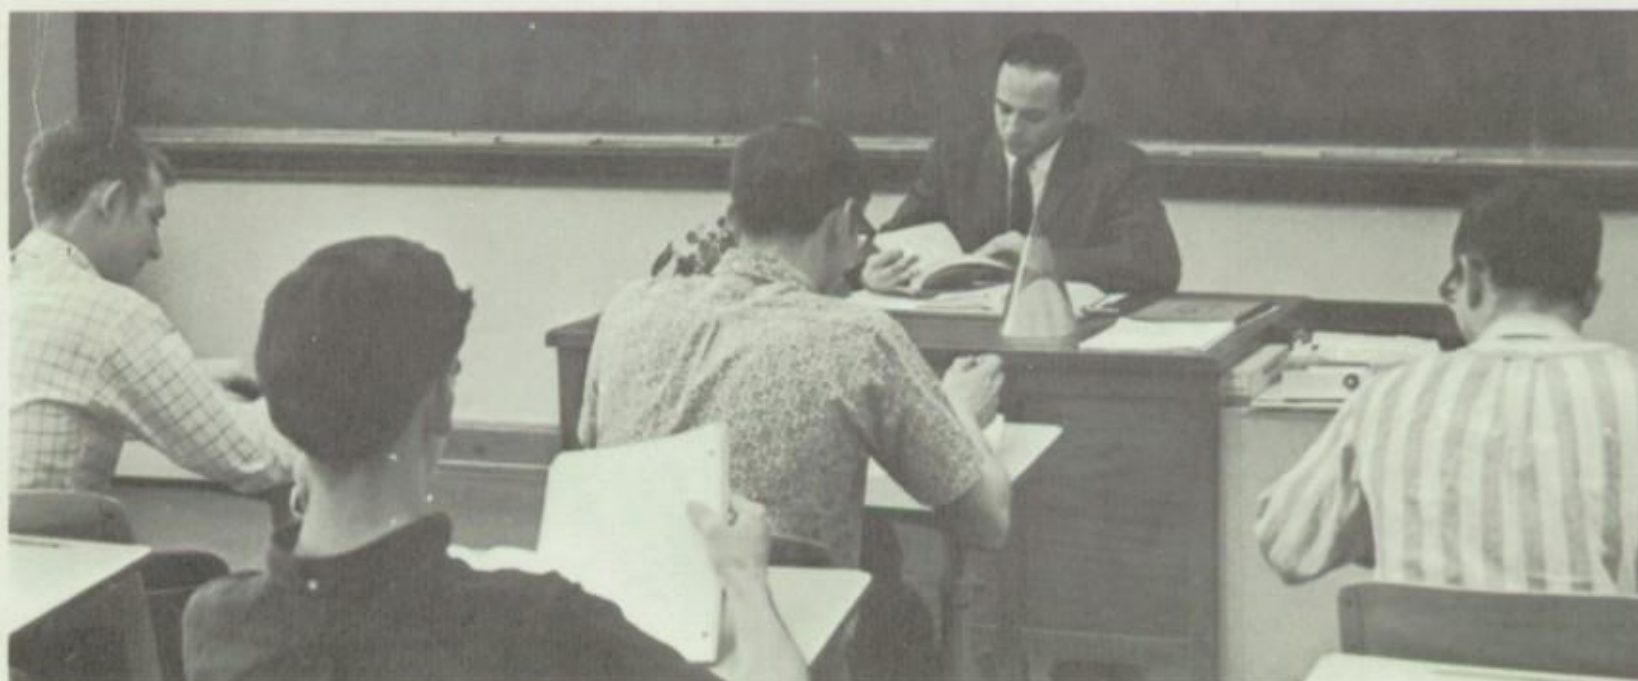

Mr. Brannan makes the simplest algebraic equation and the most complicated calculus problem an enlightening and enjoyable challenge to his math students. Junior high mathematics is taught by Mrs. Mayer and Mrs. Thatcher, who also has the high school math class.

Algebra 2 students pay close attention to Mr. Brannan's explanation of an equation.

Mr. Brannan sights Mary Jo Kruse's mistake almost before she makes it. Board work benefits first-year algebra students Mary Jo Kruse, Bob Aschliman, Jan Stamm, and Julie Short.

Although it is well known that senior math students Kevin Gautsche, Bruce Yoder, Bruce Rychener, and Paul Liechty do many things in class besides senior math, that class is able to advance rapidly not only because of its small size but also because of Mr. Brannan's able supervision.

Kris Bernath, Linda King, Norm Riegsecker, Cara Lou Aschliman, Pat Murphy, Julia Rodriguez, and Renee Rupp hunt for fungi in biology lab.

Future Einsteins search for truth

Phil Avina and Jim Short appear to be very sure of themselves as they experiment with a Geiger counter in physics.

Smiling to himself, David Somers connects an electric circuit for one of the experiments in general science class.

Miss Jones and Mrs. Thatcher taught the science courses this year. It was their duty to explain almost anything from the wave theory of light to DNA for their inquisitive students. Miss Jones succeeded her father, Mr. Winfield Jones, as science instructor.

Students learn importance of languages

Board work leads to bored students as Mary Lou Rodriguez, Oscar Ramos, Richard Richer, and Keith Miller are finding out. Copying exercises from a Spanish book can be anything but exciting.

To supplement and improve use and expression of the English language, students are encouraged to study foreign languages and take journalism. Latin is especially helpful in vocabulary and word derivation, as is Spanish. Both are offered as two-year courses.

Journalism, recommended by colleges, is available to any high school student and has proved itself to be definitely beneficial. The facility one acquires in expressing himself is an invaluable quality, many times affecting a student's future.

One of the most interesting Latin projects made in many years was done by Judy Riegsecker. She fashioned the winged horse of mythology, Pegasus, out of a toy, cotton, and chicken feathers.

Work for the journalism staff doesn't end on Tuesday when the paper comes out. Judy Somers, Jane D. Rupp, Jane Kauffman, Mary Lou Rodriguez, Miss Wyse, Dale Hartman, and Keith Hull get a chuckle out of their mistake: "Tom Rychener Brakes Ankle."

English study has many facets

Larry Smith is using many different expressions to help Mary Kauffman understand that the word he wants is "pervaded." In an effort to improve vocabulary, the seniors in speech spent much time playing "Password." Holding the placard is John Kauffman. Other players are Larry Gerig and Judy Somers.

If PHS students looked a little confused at the beginning of the school year, it was because they had had to adjust to a change in English teachers. The staff includes four who teach this subject. The dazed victims groped through a maze of daily assignments, book reports, tests, and vocabulary study. For some the fog eventually lifted; for others it remained impenetrable.

One of the exciting events made available to all high school students by the English department was the opportunity to see a professional performance of Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice at Defiance College.

Dean Nafziger smugly glances at his opponents after having written a correct answer in a grammar contest.

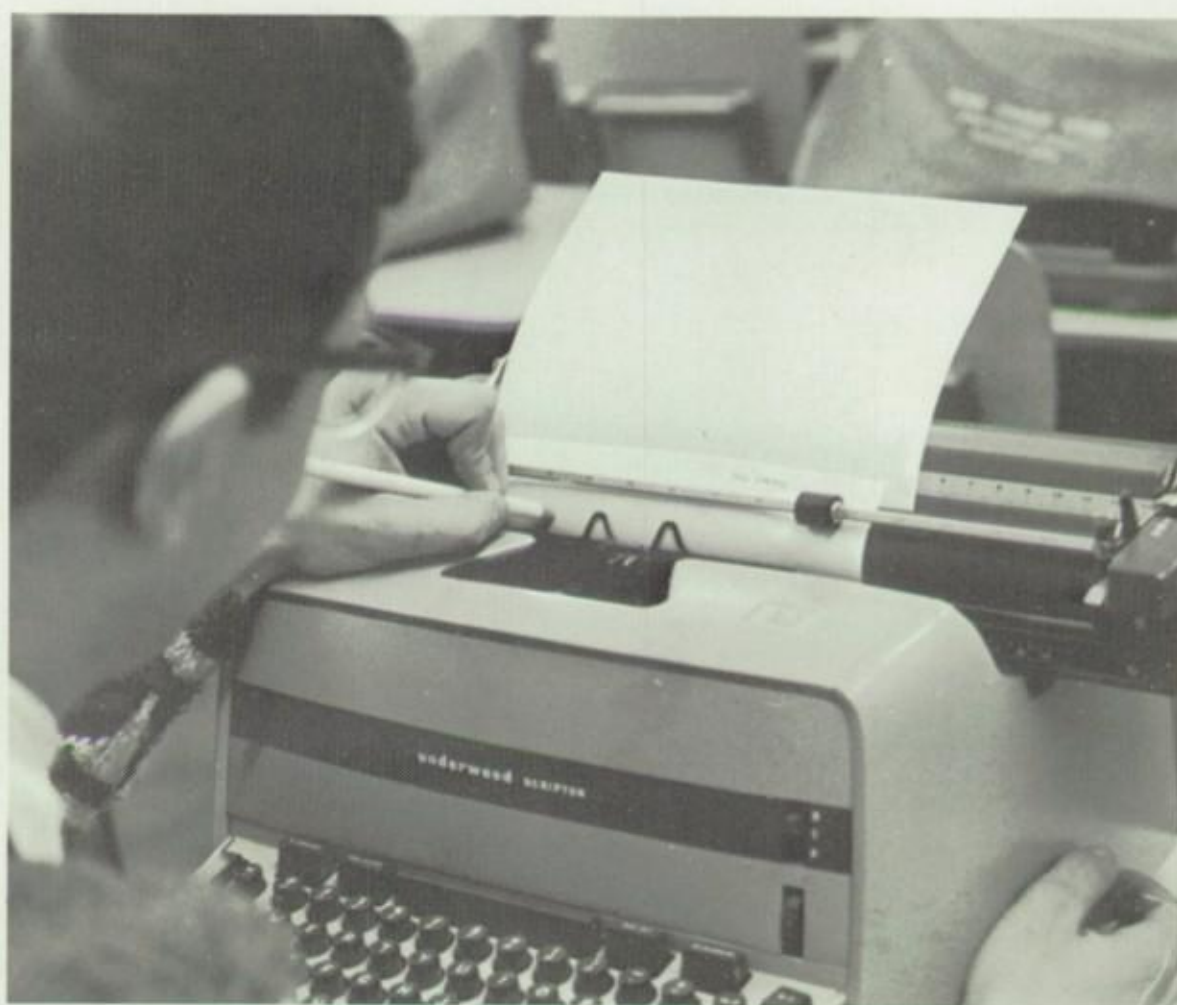

Typing 2 students, Joyce Ruetz, Mary Kauffman, Carma Rupp, Judy Somers, and Kathy Nafziger, learn machine transcription from an IBM Executive dictating-transcribing machine. These girls also worked in the office and served as secretaries for teachers during their free periods.

Students prepare to enter business world

Students who plan for careers as typists, secretaries, accountants, or business administrators learn the essential elements from their teacher, Mrs. Boyer.

Oh, I've done it again! Paul Liechty, as well as other students, has many occasions to correct the errors he makes.

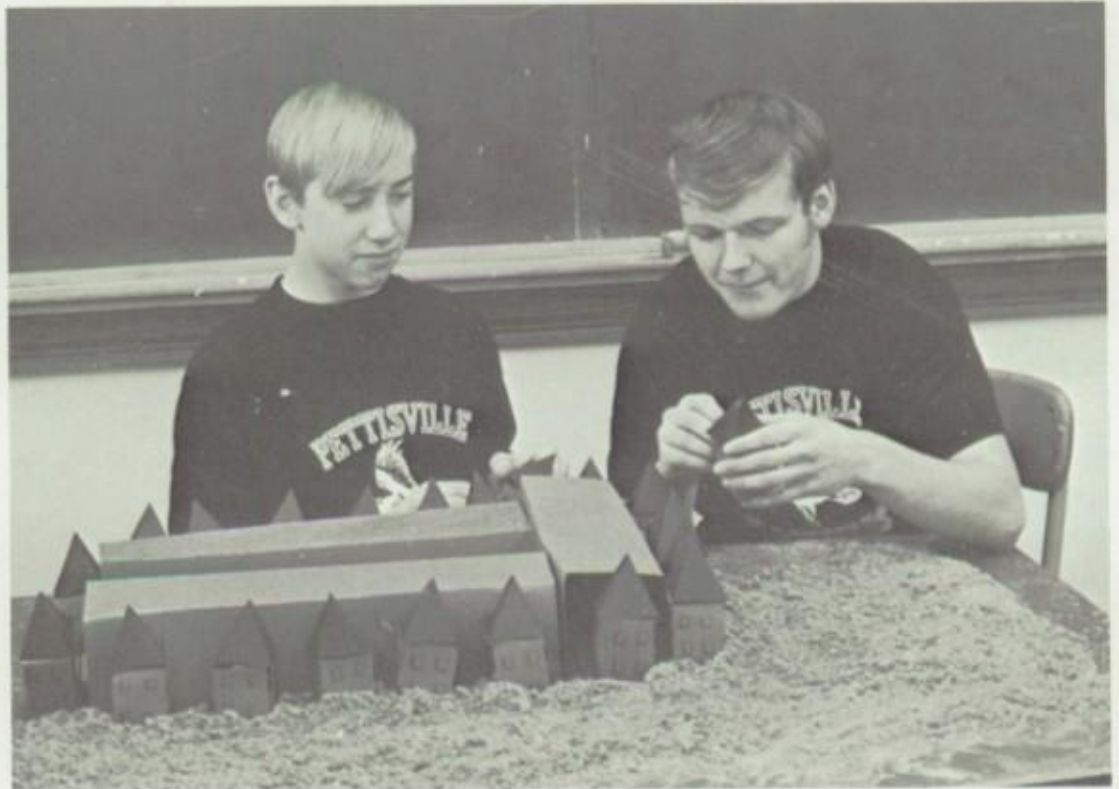

Larry Gerig concentrates on posting his entries correctly in bookkeeping class.

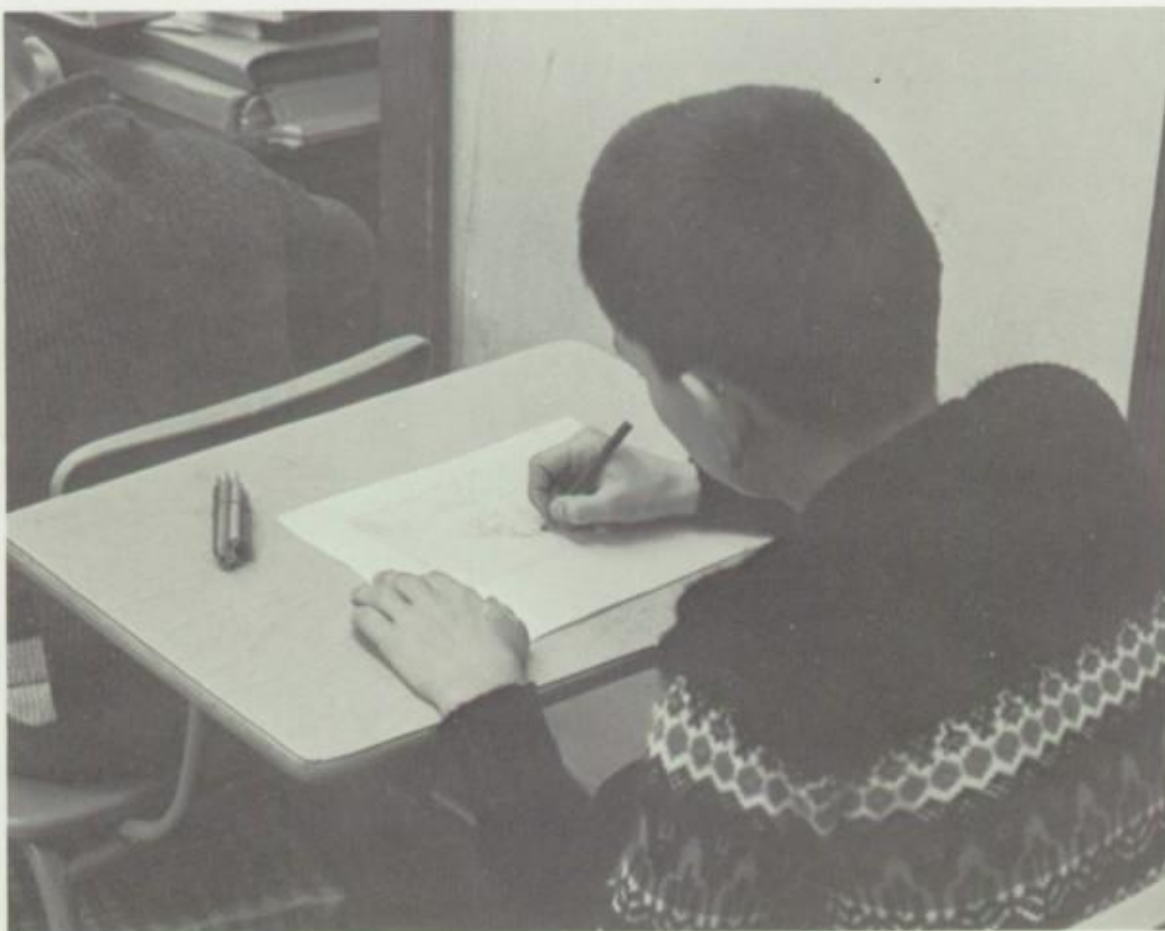

Social science reveals this wonderful world

As Loyal Briskey takes his turn at teaching political science, he finds that it's not so easy as it looks. Are the students really listening to his somewhat less-than-brilliant exposition in pol sci or are they reading what is written on the chalkboard behind him?

Steve Grieser and Jerry Reynolds make repairs on the monastery they made as a project for World history during a study of the Middle Ages.

Social studies cover a wide range of subjects including everything from economics to Ohio history. The teachers are nearly as numerous as the subjects. They kept the students awake and on their toes with class projects.

Mike Leininger finishes a map of Central America for geography class.

Watch out! Mr. Miller warns Pat Blosser about the perils of driving into the industrial arts door after a stint behind the wheel. Driver's ed has no dull moments.

Courses require application

Driver's ed students applied the rules of the road by driving in class. Phys ed kept boys and girls in shape and sometimes made them stiff for a few days!

Carma Jo Fricke jumps to make the catch in a softball game.

School is many faces

Many faces, many personalities, and many futures are influenced by education. Throughout grade school, children learn basic ideas. In high school these ideas are broadened and students develop their own personal views.

Dick and Dee's Studio in Pettisville took nearly all the pictures for the 1967 Lariat. Here, Dick Schlueter prepares to photograph a senior in his studio.

Lower Left: Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without candles and a little girl like Lynda McLaughlin to light them. Mrs. Porter also enjoys the ceremony. Lower Right: The rugs of yesterday have been replaced by air-cushioned mats for the kindergartners to use during their rest period. Modern conveniences must be used these days everywhere!

Beginners learn self-reliance

Jimmy Fowler battles frustration as he struggles to put on his boots before he leaves school at the end of the day.

As usual, the kindergartners, taught by Mrs. Porter, spent much time playing, resting, and learning to tie their shoes. However, they did spend more time learning the letters of the alphabet than formerly. Another new activity was the formation of clubs for those who had learned to count.

The first graders in Mrs. Lindley's class spent most of the year learning to read and to understand their arithmetic. They also had birthday and holiday parties.

Gene Double, Rita Riegsecker, and Mary Lou Martinez receive colored paper from their teacher, Mrs. Lindley, to make paper hats for a party.

First Grade enjoys new books

The children in Mrs. Springer's section of the first grade spent more time learning their modern math than in past years. They also celebrated Christmas and Valentine's Day with parties.

Second Graders find how tall nine feet is

SECOND ROW: Steven Duvall, Tammy Sue Frey, Ramon Garcia, LaDell Gautsche.
THIRD ROW: Karen Gerig, Pammy Grime, Idalia Jarquin, Pat King.
FIFTH ROW: Lisa Nofziger, Bobby Olvera, Barbara Rice, Vonda Riegsecker.

The second grade read Alice in Wonderland and were curious to see how tall Alice became. With Mrs. Holland's help Sean Windisch and Lisa Wyse measure nine feet, the height Alice reached.

The children in Mrs. Holland's section of the second grade made English notebooks which taught them to learn new words and basic rules of grammar. These books helped them with their written work. The pupils also studied geometric figures and used their rulers for measuring more than this class had done in the past.

Second Grade learns 3R's

Embarrassment to Gloria Beck is helping the little boy who sits beside her. This time he's Mark Nafziger.

Third Grade education notes patriotism

Considerable emphasis was placed on science in Mrs. Leininger's third grade and children brought in many plants for projects. Learning to multiply and divide was a new and interesting experience for them.

TOP ROW: Reed Aeschliman, Jimmy Aschliman, Tom Beck, Danny Cerda, Keith Eash, Charlie Frey, Dean Genter. SECOND ROW: Kandy Lantz, Mary Ann Mansfield, Linda McQuillin, Marvin Meck, Kurt Nofziger, Philip Nofziger, Frank Ramon. THIRD ROW: Cindy Ramos, Ronna Riegsecker, Gloria Rufenacht, Kent Rychener. FOURTH ROW: Randy Stuckey, Mary Trejo, Danny Wagler, Brenda Wallace. FIFTH ROW: Julia Wyse. SIXTH ROW: Eugene Young.

The third grade pupils enjoyed making papier-mache animals in art class. They are (clockwise) Mrs. Sullivan, Ronald Nafziger, John Crawford, Jon Wyse, Marlyn Schrock, Terri Short, Roxanne Mock, David Fenton, and Randy Sauder.

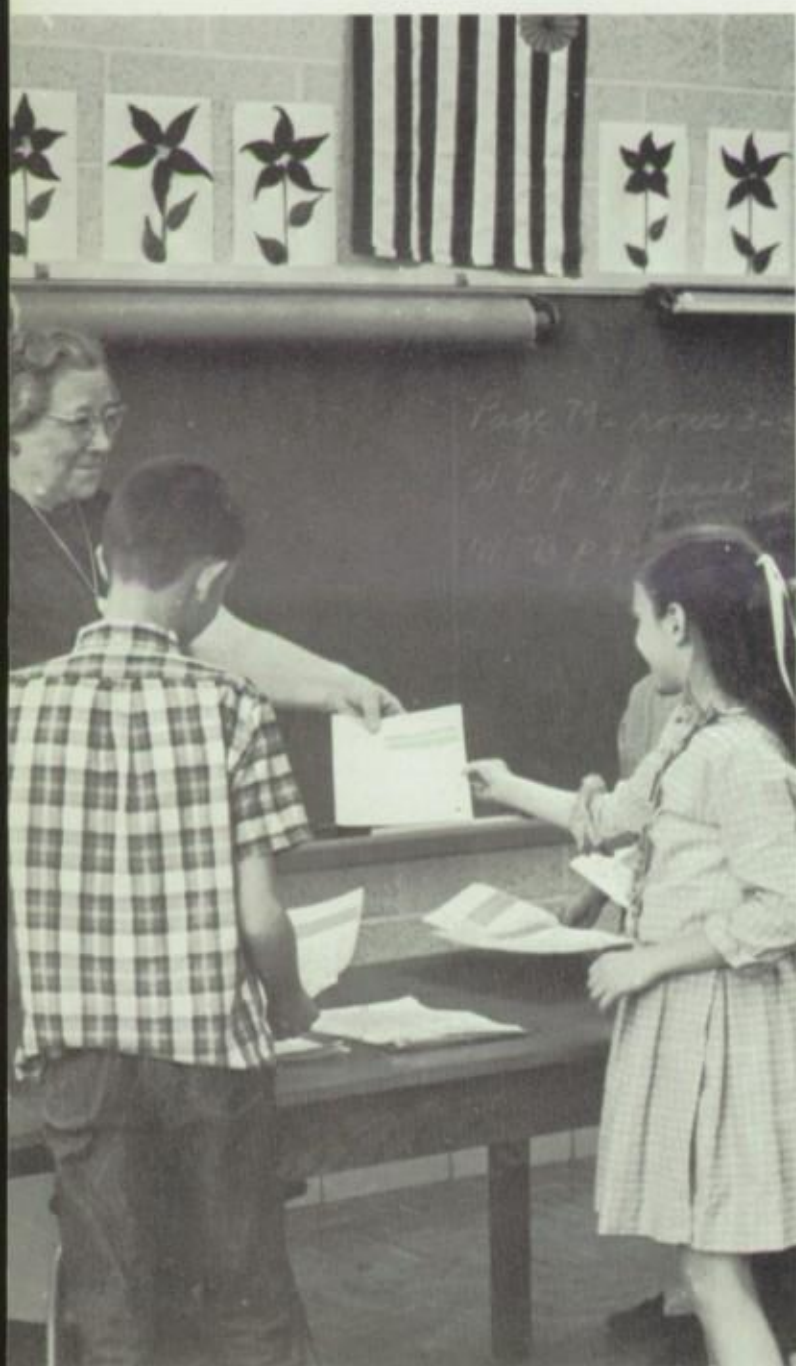

Third Grade art project includes making animals

The third grade pupils taught by Mrs. Sullivan studied animals as a part of their science course. This unit emphasized how animals differ, how they escape from their enemies, and how they get their food. In their art class the children made papier-mache figures of some of the animals that they had studied.

Fourth Graders rejoice to see papers marked A

Besides concentrating on the usual fourth-grade courses, Miss Miller's pupils spent much time working on several art projects. These included making free-form pottery and seed pictures. Like the other elementary classes, these boys and girls celebrated Christmas and Valentine Day by having parties.

A new language series was introduced this year in Mrs. Cooley's class, emphasizing good literature by way of memory gems. A fascinating experience for the fourth graders was learning to read charts, maps, and graphs. In connection with their unit on communication they visited the local post office and area printing offices to learn even more.

Fifth Graders mix art and social studies

Barbara Fenton, Donna Roth, Merna Aeschliman, Alonna Jean Gautsche, and Sandra Seiler watch Mrs. Rychener work miracles with a pie pan.

Brent Miller points out a specific section of the Constitution of the United States to Rex Rufenacht.

Mrs. Rychener took a course in the social studies at Bryan and Janie Rupp, an FTA member, substituted for her each Monday for the last half hour of the day. As a break from their studies, the children had parties to celebrate Halloween, Christmas, and Valentine's Day.

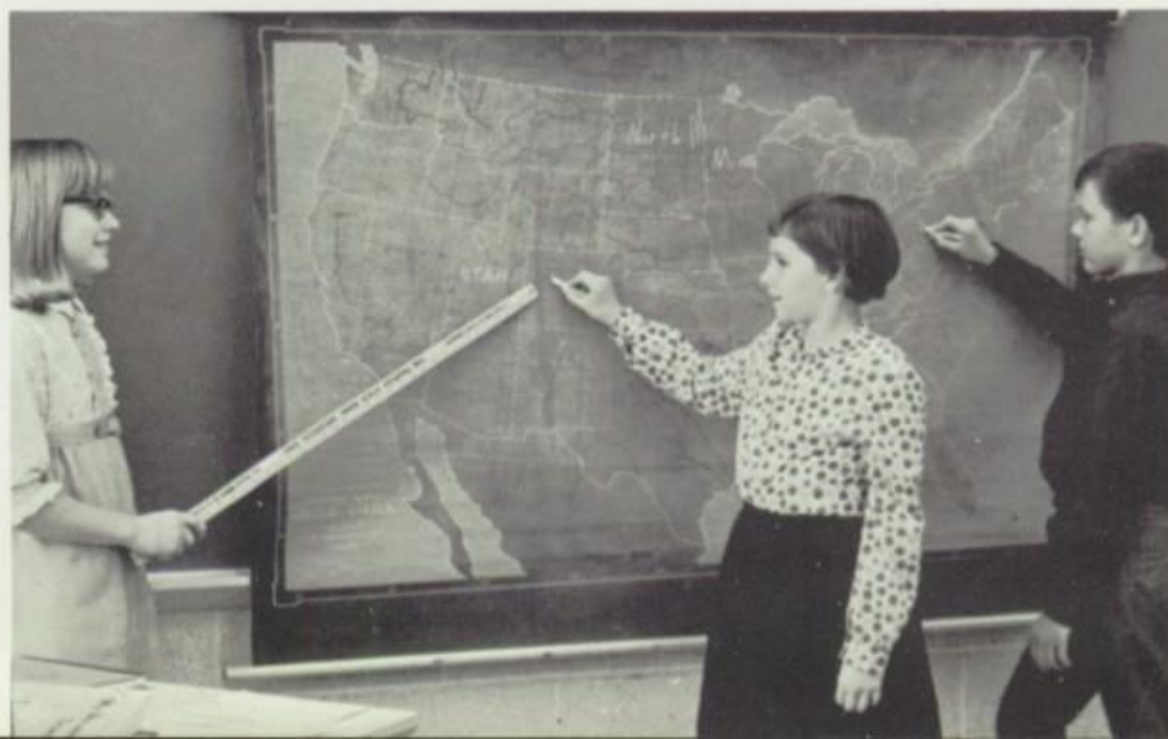

Fifth Grade shows spelling accomplishments

The county spelling bee is an important activity in Mrs. Bowers' fifth grade. This is the first year this class is allowed to participate in the event. The pupils also wrote tall tales, which they put into covers designed by themselves.

Mrs. Rychener shows Mark Blosser the proper way to make "stained-glass windows," one of many art projects that the class enjoyed.

The Christmas spirit of Mrs. Rychener's sixth grade was unique and interesting. The class brought in gifts to send to Vietnamese children. One of the class art projects was seed designs, which could be abstract or realistic. Research papers were written for science class, concerning the unit dealing with vertebrates and invertebrates. Peggy Hoops had a class Halloween party, a wiener roast, which was held in her home northeast of town.

Duties are shared by Special Class

Twice during the year, the parents of the special education pupils visited school for conferences with the teachers. The conferences were held after school hours and therefore classes were not dismissed, as they were in the elementary rooms. Miss Spiess' primary section of special ed joined the other section of special ed pupils for an enjoyable field trip to the Toledo Zoo in the spring of the year.

The FTA treated Miss Salsbury's class to a Christmas party, at which they played games and sang songs under the direction of various FTA members. The class also had a Christmas party of their own, at which they had a gift exchange.

Seventh Grade parties help relieve first-year jitters

The seventh graders began their junior high career with Leonard Nafziger as class president. Kenny Nafziger was vice-president, Jenny Graffice was secretary, and Vicki King served as treasurer. The class adviser was Mrs. Mayer. Valentine's Day was the date of their first class party, at which the movie, Summer Magic, was shown. Another party was held later in the year. In the spring, the class spent a day traveling the historic route along the Maumee River from Fort Defiance to Fort Meigs to supplement their study of Ohio history.

A bowling party and a spring class party were on the calendar for the eighth grade this year. They also enjoyed a roller skating party at Montpelier. In the spring this group took a field trip to the Henry Ford Museum and Green field Village.

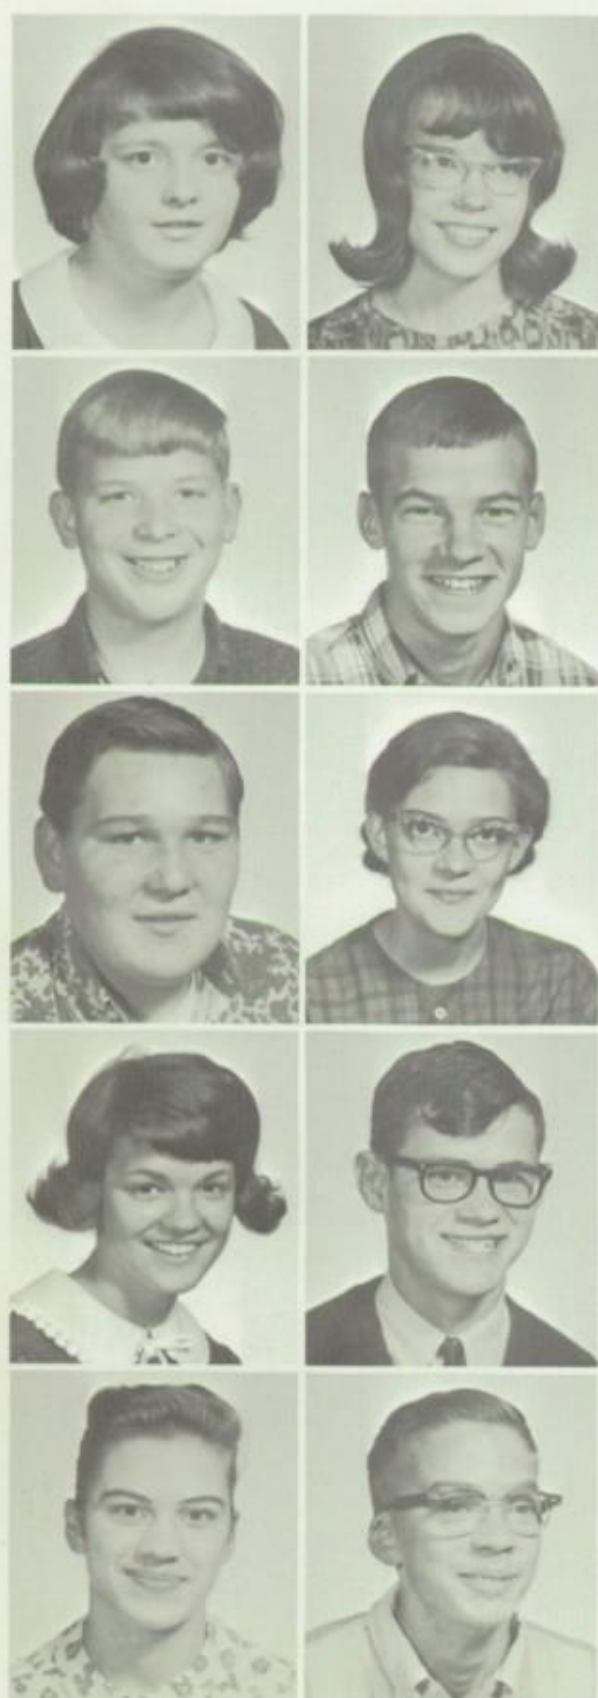

The class officers were Sue Rychener, president; Al Lantz, vice-president; Nancy Graber, secretary; and Ron Roth, treasurer. Mrs. Pickerel was adviser.

Wesley Rupp, Al Lantz, John Moden, Betty Kruse, and Diane Oakley find that eighth graders have time before their first period classes to relax, laugh, argue, and sometimes even study.

Energetic Freshmen get down to business

Freshman class officers were Bev Miller, president; Kathy Frey, vice-president; Julie Short, secretary; and Deanna First, treasurer. Miss Cron was adviser. Besides the usual freshman-sophomore parties, the class had another party later in the year. They sold ballpoint pens in order to raise money for any unforeseen emergencies that might arise in the next three years.

include serving at banquet*

The sophomore class was led this year by Emerson Nafziger, president; Steve Lauber, vice-president; Renee Rupp, secretary; and Neil Rupp, treasurer. Their adviser was Miss Rupp. As has been done in past years, the class officially initiated the freshmen into high school at the freshmen-sophomore party in the fall. The freshmen gave a return party in March. The sophomores had a slave day in order to raise money, ordered their class rings, and served at the junior-senior banquet.

Signorina Cara Lou Aschliman and Signore Denny Blosser serve Italian food at the Junior-Senior Banquet. It is tradition to have sophomores serve the dinner and take down the decorations after the banquet is over. Needless to say, they find the serving the more enjoyable of the two.

Many original posters were concocted by the junior class. They and the freshmen were co-winners of the Booster team spirit contest.

Routine school life was interrupted on at least two occasions this year by the junior class when they went on strike against defeat and picketed the pep meetings. One of their unique class projects was the sale of apple cider at the end of October. Other activities included a smorgasbord in January, a roller skating party in Montpelier, the class play, "Too Many Marias," and the usual junior-senior banquet.

The senior class officers were Paul Liechty, president; John Wagler, vice-president; Rachel Andre, secretary; and Bruce Rychener, treasurer. Mrs. T. Rychener was the class adviser. Many class members gave up much of their free time to help sell baked goods, wash cars, serve a dinner, and collect trash to raise money for the class trip to Washington, D.C. and New York City. The group also sponsored a travelog entitled "Wingjammer to Australia." They presented their play, "Dear and Glorious Physician," on April 22 and 23. The class also visited the U.S. District Court and the Federal Building in Toledo, May 1. Baccalaureate and commencement exercises were both held on June 4. The class chose royal blue and white as its colors; the red rose was the class flower. Their motto was "Yesterday is gone; you have today; tomorrow may never come."

Graduation ends school life but begins new education

Those seniors with a high B average for four years of high school work receive trophies at Commencement. This year's class had seven recipients, the largest number ever to be so honored. They are Joyce Ruetz, Paul Liechty, Janie Rupp, Bruce Yoder, Rachel Andre, Bruce Rychener, and Patsy Nofziger. Janie and Bruce Yoder also were National Merit Scholarship finalists. Rachel won the citizenship award and Bruce Yoder the yearbook editor's award. Both were the speakers at graduation.

Bruce Rychener is the first Pettisville High School graduate to be admitted to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Here he receives the Naval Academy Certificate of Achievement from Lt. Com. J. Frederick Leetch of the U.S. Naval Reserve.

Mrs. T. Rychener, senior class sponsor, pins a red rose, the class flower, on Carol Knapp before the procession. Sandy Stuckey is the other senior.

For the third consecutive year, the National Honor Society members produced the Lariat. Bruce Yoder was editor and Donna Genter, assistant. The copy editor was Janie Rupp and picture editor, Rachel Andre. Patsy Nofziger directed the index work and Joyce Ruetz was head typist.

The business staff was headed by Paul Liechty. Advisers for the yearbook were Miss Wyse, editorial, and Mrs. Boyer, business. Mrs. T. Rychener was adviser of the National Honor Society, whose other main activity was the annual induction ceremony, which was held at Christmas time

Members of the Meditation Committee kept physically fit by racing down to the office each morning to give a thought for the day over the PA system. Once, the seniors were asked to quote one of these on an economics test!

She showed slides and told about her native country.

Clubs reach for success

Library club members were busy keeping the library in shape while Miss Rupp nursed a broken ankle. They sold paperback books and mended books for the elementary teachers again this year.

Coveted State FFA degrees were awarded to Kevin Gautsche, a senior, and to Randy King, a junior. The club participated in District and State judging contests, the District Parliamentary Procedure Contest, and the annual pest hunt with Archbold and Wauseon. During the Christmas season the boys not only sold Christmas cards but also collected food and clothing for needy Pettisville families.

A new project was begun this year by senior FTA members. After the annual Christmas-tree-decorating and cookie-making party, they treated the special classes with a party and presented the cookies to the children. Several members also attended the state FTA convention held at Otterbein College in October. As usual, they substituted for and assisted teachers in elementary and high school.

FSA members held monthly day and night meetings. At the evening meetings, they had movies and refreshments, which always included tea. As in the past, each member was to complete a scientific project.

At one assembly, sponsored by the Student Council, Richard Sinclair, a representative from NASA, gave a lecture and demonstration on space rockets.

Linda Klopfenstein's opponents won't make the mistake of setting her up again after she spikes this fast ball across the net.

This year the Student Council, which is composed of representatives from each class and organization, scheduled intramural basketball games and sponsored the election of girls' and boys' all-star teams. The teams were supposed to play the faculty but apparently the faculty chickened out. Several members of the group spent time compiling a Student Council handbook that is to be finished next year. This will be a catalog of all classes and organizations and their activities and of courses required and suggested for graduation at PHS. At each assembly during the year, a member led the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and introduced the guest speaker. The Council for the first time joined the Ohio Association of Student Councils. On the last day of school the group sponsored a track meet, in which many high school students took part.

TC sponsors spirit contest

During the basketball season, students had little trouble deciding what to wear on Fridays. TC sponsored a hat day, a sweat-shirt day, and a silence day, among others, to help kindle school spirit.

Trophies and a plaque provided incentive for the TC tournaments, and the new year-long school spirit ping pong, foul shooting, and chess contests.

Roman banquet highlights year for Latin students

This year's Roman banquet came as close to the real thing as any held so far. The guests, Latin 2 and former Latin students, were served everything from eggs to apples by the Latin 1 students, dressed as slaves. The evening's festivities were topped off by a fierce gladiator fight, slides of Rome shown by Miss Wyse, and by the Roman men who were compelled to refasten their safety pins every five minutes to keep their togas on.

"Veni, vidi, vici (I came, I saw, I conquered)" appears to be Jim Short's motto as Miss Wyse, Kris Bernath, Stephanie Miller, and Donna Genter make him feel like an emperor. No Caesar ever had it so good!

A unique and colorful setting provided the background for the junior class play, Too Many Marias. The four daughters of Don Jose and the four sons of Don Carlos become involved in a delightful comedy. The fathers arrange a mass marriage between their sons and daughters. The courtship is going as planned until an American artist and his sister play havoc with the plan. In the end, the sons and daughters are paired off just as they want to be, despite the objections of their fathers. Pedro, a wood peddler, and Pancho, a man who can sleep anytime, contribute humor to the play. The maid, Maria, adds confusion to the plot because every daughter of Don Jose is also named Maria. Miss Rupp directed.

Keptah, played by Bruce Yoder shows Luke the star that heralded Christ's birth and would soon be the light of the world.

Aurelia, Rubria's mother, played by Jane Rupp, learns from Keptah that her daughter has the white sickness, an incurable disease.

Rubria, Ethel Grieser, pleads with her father, Diodorus, Loyal Briskey, not to reprimand Luke too harshly for playing instead of studying.

Seniors reenact story of great physician

Priscus, Luke's foster brother, Barney Frey, suffered physically and emotionally after he officiated at the crucifixion of Christ. His wife Gaia, Kathleen Nafziger, comforts him.

Leah, Judy Somers, offers to show Arie (Samos) his inheritance from his father, as his sister Sara, Luana Wyse, and Luke look on approvingly.

The senior class play, "Dear and Glorious Physician," tells the story of St. Luke's search for God. The play is based on the book by Taylor Caldwell and it was directed by Mrs. T. Rychener. The story begins with Luke's childhood and tells of his rejection of God, because He allows man to suffer pain and sorrow. Luke becomes a physician to strike down the hand of God, but he comes to realize that God is good and merciful. He then gives up security and love in order to serve God.

Luke bought Samos, John Wagler, in this Athenian marketplace. Shown here are John Kauffman, Bruce Rychener, John Wagler, Phil Blosser, Jeanette Eicher, Sandy Stuckey, Lucinda Zaerr, Jim Grime, Doug Miller, and Russ Leatherman.

Luke visits Mary, Jesus' mother, played by Mary Kauffman, to learn about Christ's childhood as he begins to record His life and words for all men.

Parents give much time to PTO, Music Boosters

The PTO again held bimonthly meetings this year. At the May meeting, awards were presented to students who were outstanding for attendance, scholarship, and service to the school.

The Music Boosters held their meetings immediately after each PTO meeting. The organization sponsored a talent show. The money received from this project was used to help pay for a new tuba for the music department.

Carol Knapp, a perky radio announcer, helps Sandy Stuckey start the day out right in a Talent Show skit.

Bruce Yoder, a senior, received a superior rating for his baritone-saxophone solo at state contest for the third consecutive year. He also won an excellent rating for his clarinet solo in state competition.

Bruce Rychener finished his high school career by receiving a superior rating for his snare drum solo at state contest. He also had the knack of playing his trap drum set with vim and vigor.

The only junior to receive a I on a solo was Donna Genter. This is the second year she received a superior rating for her contra bass, an instrument seldom taken to contest.

Musicians of note receive superior vote

It's been a long time since a clarinet ensemble has gone to state, but this year made up for the lack. Bringing back a I were Stephanie Miller, Cheryl Thierry, Donna Genter, and Bruce Yoder.

Both the band and the director, Miss Cron, worked hard to prepare for numerous concerts, the Memorial Day parade, and above all, competition. All was not in vain, for the band received a superior rating at district contest and then they went on to Columbus to receive an excellent rating. The group practiced practically every week during the summer months and performed at various places, including Cedar Point, Delta Chicken Festival, and Wauseon Homecoming.

Competition serves as test for musical ability

Under Miss Cron's direction, the senior choir had a successful year. In addition to their usual performances, the group combined with the Archbold High School chorus to present a sacred concert, which was directed by Don Hustad. For the third year in a row, the choir received all superior ratings at district competition, but were disappointed when they rated a II at state. They also sang at Baccalaureate.

The girls glee was, without a doubt, the giddiest bunch of females at PHS. But they still managed to learn music for school and church concerts and get all I ratings at both district and state contests, no small feat. They planned to present an operetta, "The Beauty Contest," as entertainment following the annual ice cream social in June.

The much-improved boys glee performed with the choir at two churches and gave the main portion of a concert at West Clinton Mennonite Church. They tried their hardest, but couldn't quite get the I at district that they had hoped for. They received two II's and a I for a final rating of II.

Barney Frey sizes up a juicy watermelon displayed along the street.

The mooring post, gondola, and canal can symbolize only Venice.

The theme for the Junior-Senior Banquet, "Venetian Venture," was effectively carried out with a canal, street scenes, and a garden. The Marvelaires from Defiance supplied the dinner music and Randy King, the junior class president, served as master of ceremonies. Tom Wagler gave the welcome and Paul Liechty, president of the senior class, gave the response, after which the movie "Ten Thousand Bedrooms," was shown. The evening's festivities ended with a midnight pizza party.

Candles, flowers mark memorable coronation

Soft candlelight and pink mums add to the romantic setting of the ceremony.

Queen Ethel is surrounded by her attendants, who are Renee Rupp, sophomore; Becky Huber, junior; Mary Sue Rupp, junior; and Joyce Ruetz, senior. In front of her are Debbie Ann Hamp and Douglas Yoder, both from the kindergarten.

Candlelight Serenade was the theme of the 1967 Homecoming. Ethel Sue Grieser, a senior, was chosen as queen and she reigned over the basketball game with Tinora. Ethel was presented with a dozen roses by John Wagler and was crowned by Jerry Huber. The Boosters planned the entire ceremony and served punch and cookies to the invited guests after the game.

Anxiously awaiting the big moment with Queen Ethel are Douglas Yoder, crown bearer, and Debbie Ann Hamp, flower girl.

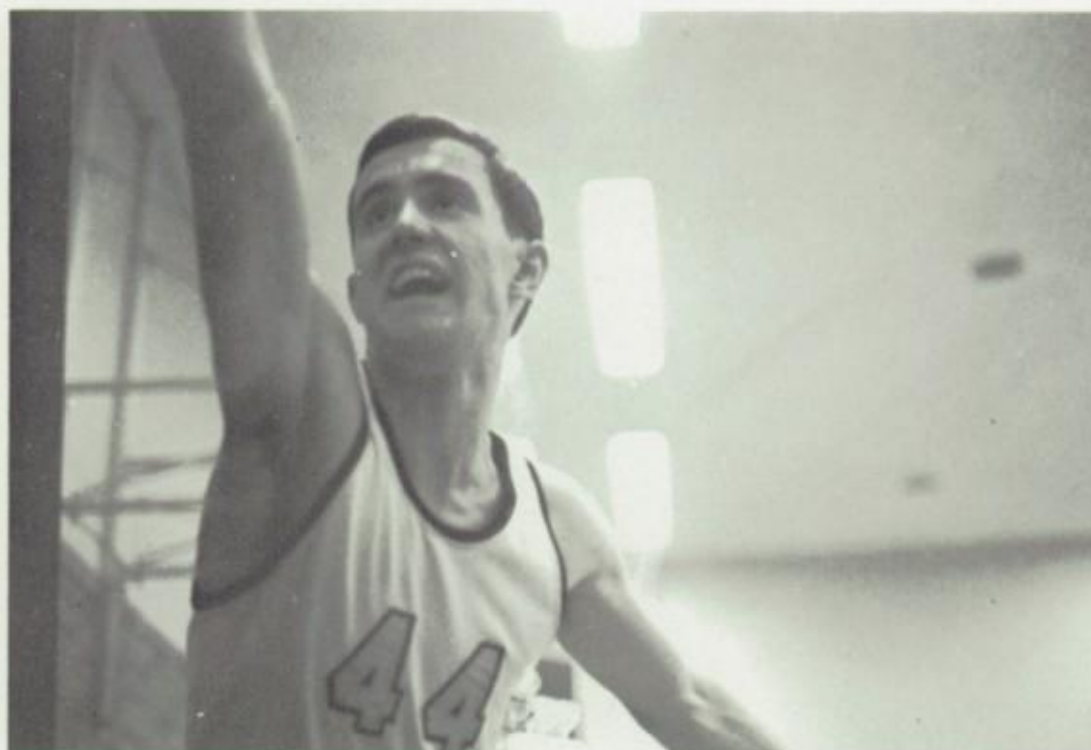

School is a ballgame

"Will the player with the basketball get off my back!" Charlie Murphy scrambled for the ball but, entangled in arms and legs, he seems to have got the raw end of the deal.

One can almost feel the sadness of Rachel Andre and Luana Wyse as they say good-by to the gym they have cheered in for so long.

The determination, fight, and never-say-die attitude of Barney Frey earned him the coveted Most Improved Player award, given annually to a varsity player.

Right or wrong, the athletic aspect of school life continues to draw great interest. The dedication of the individual is seldom surpassed and the loyalty of the community is unequalled in any other area. "The thrill of victory and the agony of defeat" has a place with the academics of school life.

Bruce Yoder, varsity pitcher, rears back, ready to fire the ball past the batter.

Dog-gone machine! Patsy Nofziger, Jane Kauffman, and Leslie Miller can't help be amused when, after a busy half-time, their trusty pop machine decides to peter out.

Booster members spent hours and hours of work on the homecoming, athletic banquet, and at ball games selling refreshments. Mrs. Harold Thierry made the Blackbird poster for the gym.

The GAA emphasized athletics in every sense of the word this year. They bowled every other week and played basketball and volleyball with various other schools in the country.

Varsity has little in height but shows plenty in fight

The Blackbird varisty, composed of nine seniors and one junior and coached for the first time by Mr. Selgo, ended the season with a record of 11 wins and eight losses. The highlight of the season for Blackbird fans was the first game with Archbold, which PHS won by 11 points. Later, the Birds ended Fayette's 14-game winning streak in overtime. The Eagles had been rated as the best team in the district. But the Blackbirds really starred against highly-favored Ottawa Hills in tournament action. They played their best game against the Green Bears but lost by two points. The Birds were the County League co-champs, and Charlie Murphy and Jerry Huber were named to the all-league first team, while John Wagler and Chris Rychener, the lone junior, were second-team choices.

Good shots of good sportsmen

Larry Schultz outjumps the rival center to start the game.

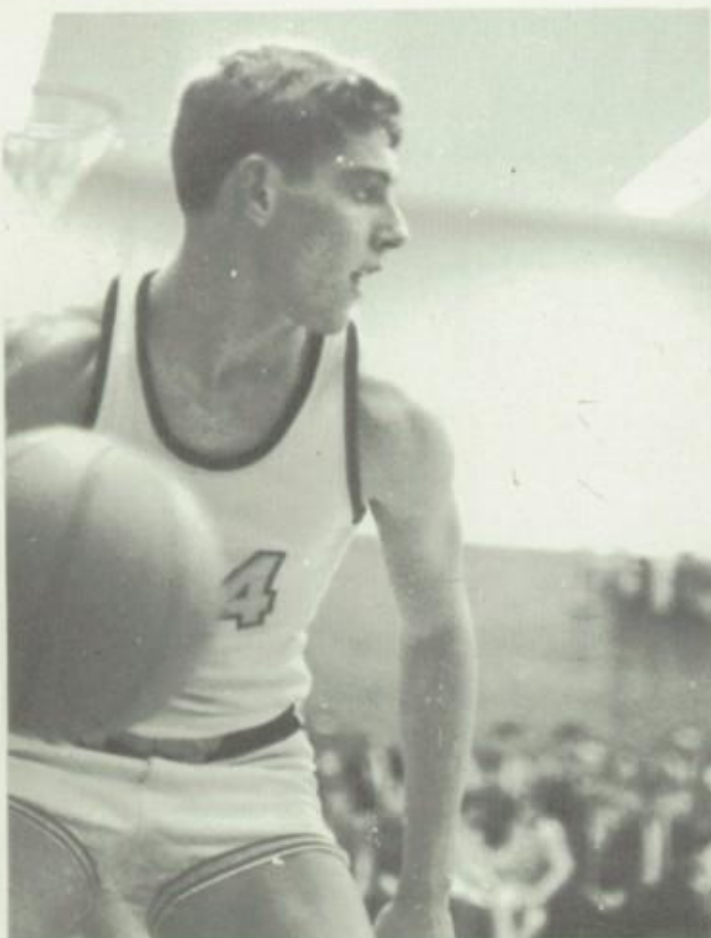

Chris Rychener, the only junior on the varsity squad, grabs another rebound.

Even the shortest Blackbirds, like Jerry Huber, managed to get under the basket for the ball.

Larry Smith starts down the floor after a steal.

Charlie Murphy harasses his man as this opponent tries to get rid of the ball.

John Wagler shows his guard how he sinks his hook shots.

As Keith Hull watches, ready for action, Zeno Miller dodges his guard and dribbles in toward the basket to score.

The reserve team was coached by Mr. Brannan. The boys finished their season with a fine record of 17 wins and one loss. The only really close game was with Ayersville, which the Birds won in overtime. Although they lost to Archbold in their first meeting with the Streaks, they enjoyed revenge in their second encounter by decisively beating the Archbold team.

The members of the tall freshman team especially look forward to next year when they can play reserve and varsity basketball. All junior high teams had good records. The freshmen won 16 games and lost four. The eighth grade record of 16 and one and the seventh grade one of five and none forecasts many promising players.

School fire is kindled by cheerleading squads

Part of being a cheerleader is taking defeat along with victory, nursing laryngitis after tough games, spending much time learning and perfecting new cheers. But it's worth it.

Left: One of the reasons for the success of the reserve team was its cheerleaders, Kris Bernath, Karen Roth, and Lynette Rufenacht, who never failed it.

The varsity cheerleaders, Bev Gearig, Luana Wyse, Rachel Andre, and Mary Sue Rupp, did their best to keep school spirit high during the entire season.

To prove that all Blackbirds fly high, mascot Donna Genter is ready for her take-off. Is it a rocket? Is it a jet? No, it's Superbird! Zooooom! Zoooooom!

Birds' baseball team strikes hard but out!

After a season of hard practicing and tough games, the varsity baseball team struck out with a record of three wins and thirteen losses. Coach Selgo reports that he enjoyed working with this team and that it improved much over the year. He is looking forward to a promising season next year as the underclassmen are talented.

The dismal spring weather was disheartening to the team during the last half of the season. The rain and cold caused many postponements and cancellations.

All high school students not in the interscholastic sports of basketball and volleyball had the opportunity to play during the noon hours. Organizing this program to induce student participation and enthusiasm was the responsibility of Student Council.

Much to the despair of opposing teams, the junior girls won the intramural championship. A team from the class of '68 has held this title for five years. BACK ROW: Marilyn Sue Nafziger, Stephanie Miller, Shirley Frey, Beverly Gearig, Linda Klopfenstein. FRONT ROW: Becky Huber, Marilyn Graber, Joyce Eicher.

Because this year was the first time organizations as well as classes could form intramural basketball teams, it was fitting for an organization to win the championship. The TC team, Jim Short, Paul Liechty, Lonnie Rychener, Bruce Yoder, Bruce Rychener, and Tom Wagler, came up the winner.

The eighth grade girls became junior high champs after defeating the freshman and seventh grade teams. BACK ROW: Debbie Stuckey, Pansy King, Linda Zaerr, LuAnn Zaerr, Bonnie King. FRONT ROW: Leora Schultz, Engracia Jarquin, Odilia Rodriguez, Darlene Short, Luanne Nofziger.
